SCOTCH PLAINS RESCUE SQUAD FACT SHEET

WHO WE ARE

The SCOTCH PLAINS RESCUE SQUAD, INC is the designated emergency medical service (EMS) for the Township of Scotch Plains. It is a self-governing, volunteer staffed organization separate and apart from the municipal government, although it does work closely with the Townships police and fire organizations.

The Squad is financially independent from the Township of Scotch Plains, and receives its entire operational budget from tax deductible contributions from the community.

The Scotch Plains Rescue Squad maintains its headquarters facility on Bartle Ave, in the center of town, from which it operates two ambulances. In addition to ambulance bays, the facilities include several meeting rooms, office, and recreation rooms, as well as duty crew computers which the members can freely use as well as a large meeting room upstairs which our members can use on a space available basis free of charge.

Our members consist of "riding" members, either full "Regular Members" who have completed training as emergency medical technicians - Basic (EMT-Bs), or "Probationary Members", who are still in training or performing under supervision of regular members..

While most volunteers live or work within Scotch Plains, there is no residency requirement. Members come from varied occupational and educational backgrounds, and ages range from high school through retirement.

WHAT IS EXPECTED OF YOU

Duty crew riding members perform their duty periods at the headquarters during the evening crew hours. Night Crews and others are paged out via a pager system. They are dispatched directly from the Scotch Plains Police headquarters.

To become a regular member you must possess a valid non graduated New Jersey driver's license and be capable of performing the job responsibilities of an emergency medical technician. This requires certain physical capabilities, such as the ability to lift equipment and stretchers with patients on them, and to drive under hazardous conditions, mental capability to meet and maintain training levels, and emotional capability to deal with often stressful situations.

Applicants for riding membership must be capable of completing classroom work at the beginning college level. Initial EMT training is the equivalent of a three or four credit one semester college course.

EMT training is offered locally by The Scotch Plains Rescue Squad, Less Stress Instructional services, Union County College, or MONOC. EMT-B's must recertify every three years, by completing 48 continuing education credits.

EMT-Bs must also obtain and recertify in the cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) course for professional health care providers. This course is offered periodically by local hospital affiliated instructors at the Scotch Plains Rescue Squad building specifically for squad members.

The squad offers in-house training sessions, and publicizes other courses available through other squads or local hospitals. A probationary member's duty crew will familiarize the new member with squad specific protocols and assist him or her in practical application of EMT classroom training, while certain procedures will be explained by specific squad training personnel, all overseen by the squad's training officer, who follows a checklist to insure each probationary becomes fully familiar with all squad equipment and its use.

Additionally, all members are expected to abide by squad rules and regulations. These range from those requiring adherence to specific squad call protocols and maintaining patient confidentiality to "housekeeping". Probationary members are subject to immediate dismissal if they discuss confidential calls outside the building or if they are seen wearing any part of their uniform while not on duty.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

After completing the membership application forms in this packet and returning them to the Squad building, your driving record is reviewed.

If satisfactory, you will be interviewed by the squad's membership committee, and undergo an examination by the squad's physician.

While the Scotch Plains Rescue Squad adheres to a policy of non-discrimination in its selection process, it otherwise retains the right to determine, at its sole discretion, whether an applicant would be capable of performing squad duties, and thus acceptable for membership.
